

Prom: Shower of Stars

As April 1970 ended, juniors and seniors at North Putnam readied themselves for May "showers." However, an umbrella was not needed for this type of a "shower."

On May 2, 1970, it rained a "Shower of Stars" upon the juniors and seniors at the first North Putnam prom.

Tuxedos had been taken out of mothballs, and long evening gowns had been thrice pressed for this eventful evening.

Fireflies of light glanced off the golden chandeliers which hung from a false ceiling of blue. Silver stars and a garden-like atmosphere created an aura of springtime as the Lafayette Jeff Stage Band provided musical entertainment.

By the next day Cinderella and Prince Charming again turned into typical teens dressed in culottes or dungarees.

Couples dreamily swirled around the room as melodic sounds filled the air.
