

The Sophomore Class Officers were Sue Sandusky; Rhonda Alexander; Lu Gibson; Jim Lambermont.

Like the rest of her classmates, sophomore, Diane Miller keeps a clean locker!?

TWO DOWN, TWO TO GO!

What are some of the things that highlights a sophomore school year?

Dressing up for formal dances invigorating pep sessions, cheering reserve and varsity athletic teams, auditioning for school plays.

Pounding on keys in beginning typewriting, sleeping through a Monday morning study hall, wood shy--another cabinet, Geometry--that ought to be a senior course, cutting up frogs right before lunch.

Mysterious mutterings and suppressed smiles while discussing S-E-X in health class, last minute themes written on the bus to school, brightening smiles and glances at clocks as Friday drew nearer- each a part of the sophomore class.

The last year of Phys. Ed., excitement over drivers licenses and new-old cars and completing a foreign language (finally!) - each a factor in reaching maturity.

Most exciting of all, however, was the idea of only two more years of school!
