

'I Am Not Afraid of Tomorrow, For I Have Seen Yesterday, And I Love Today.'

Principal Richard Schelsky presents Anita Fowler and Mary Bock with the Valedictorian and Salutatorian medals respectively.

BACCALAUREATE—COMMENCEMENT

PROCESSIONAL	North Putnam High School Band
INVOCATION	David McGaughey
WELCOME	Troy Bryan President—Class of 1980
BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS	Andrew J. Simkins Minister, Roachdale Christian Church
ALUTATORY ADDRESS	Mary Bock
OCAL SOLO	Greg Starnes
ALEDICTORY ADDRESS	Anita Fowler
PRESENTATION OF SENIOR CLASS	Richard Schelsky Principal Melvin L. Wood, Ass't Principal
PRESENTATION OF DIPLOMAS	Dr. Larry Williams Superintendent of North Putnam Community Schools
BENEDICTION	Rita Jeffries
PROCESSIONAL	North Putnam High School Band

The North Putnam Senior Class of 1980, which was the biggest class to ever graduate from North Putnam consisting of 151 students receiving diplomas, exhibited mixed emotions Sunday, May 18, 1980, at their Baccalaureate—Commencement exercises in the North Putnam gymnasium. Some were filled with excitement, joy, and anxious hearts as Mary Bock gave the Salutatory Address, looking into the future. On the other hand, many graduates cried tears of sadness as Anita Fowler reminisced in her Valedictory Address about all the good times, major achievements and memorable moments the great class of 1980 shared. This day was a time of happiness for most, but a time of sadness for others. It was the last time the Class of 1980 would be seen together as a class. North Putnam would be losing a class with "Class."