

Mr. Andy Maier—Agriculture Chairman, “My prerogative is to want students to be very aware of how agriculture is important to their lives. To reach the best goal they can and strive for excellence.”

Mr. Don Steward—Industrial Technology Chairman, “My prerogative is to teach students to have more pride in what they are doing.”

Ms. Charlene Logan—Business Chairman, “My prerogative is to prepare students for the business world as post secondary students, employees, and/or consumers.”

Mrs. Kathy Dory—Choir. “My prerogative is to challenge my students to think for themselves and to stretch their limits and to have satisfaction in a job well done.”

Mrs. Linda Gjesvold—Art. “My prerogative is to teach students how to think for themselves instead of copying what was done before.”

Mrs. Jacquelyn McGaughey—Home Economics Chairman. “My prerogative is to teach students that they need to think for themselves and learn to be responsible at all times.”

Mrs. Francis Reed—English. “My prerogative is to help students strive to do the best they can; that if they don't do their best, if they don't they only cheat themselves.”

Mrs. Anne Elmore—English, Latin. “My prerogative is to try to get each student to realize his best potential.”

Ms. Judi Huter—Speech, Journalism. “My prerogative is to help students learn how to communicate with others respectfully and to listen as well, as speak with an open mind.”
