“What was your most embarrassing moment?”

“My freshman year I walked out of the restroom, back to class, and, in front of the whole class, I suddenly realized my pants were unzipped and my shirt was sticking out of my zipper.”

— Brett Higgins

“Loading the bus for a band trip, I slipped down the bus steps and landed in a high mud puddle. Everyone just stood there and laughed.”

— Bridget Perkins

“My sophomore year, Jackie Campbell and I got into an argument in the bathroom, and she flung me into a bathroom stall door, and I fell flat on my butt.”

— Bridgette Birtchman

“My junior year, I was laughing so hard I choked on macaroni and cheese, and a piece flew out of my nose.”

— Jackie Campbell

“When I played football my sophomore year we were running back to the field after half-time when I fell face-down in a huge mud puddle. The rest of the team just kept running.”

— Steve Pollett
