

Health

The health students deal with their health everyday, and this class teaches them more about it in detail. Learning about your body and the outside community is a great experience.

Mr. Steward has a very busy day preparing for his seven-class day. Because it is new and updated, it's fun for the kids to learn. He says it's a change of the past and the students use it later on in life. He works with computers, video cameras, and the kids sometimes take a break with a video game now and then.
