

School must continue despite the weather. Here, Mrs. Cassidy, French I teacher, helps Chris Coffman grasp the concept of the lesson.

Mr. Sanders gives his daily lesson to his sixth-hour class, as students Shawn Walton, Corbin Braeger, Shawn Eberwein, and Russell Bush listen closely.

Chrissie Bannon and Mr. Moser try to block the wind by trying to protect their faces from the wind that had left the wind-chill factor below zero.

This is also Mr. Sanders very observant U.S. History class who listens very closely to his every word.

These students study very hard to learn their assignments and make good grades in 6th-hour class.
