

Mrs. Gjesvold applies make-up to the face of Alex Kinsel before dress rehearsal. He portrayed the Traver's family butler.

Chilling Experience

By April Steele

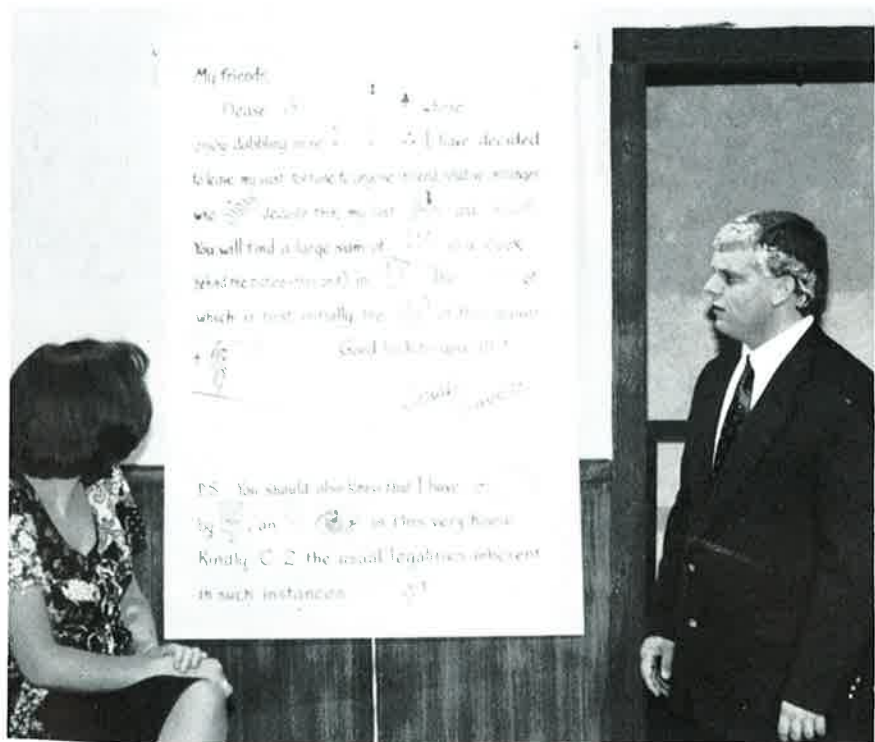

As the last few audience members came into the auditorium, and the lights went down, the cast members of this year's fall play, Bone Chiller knew that it was time to perform. That was what all of those long nights and weeks of memorizing lines, practicing, and building sets were for, and now they were ready.

The cast and crew presented two shows on November 18th. and the 19th. in the high school auditorium.

Senior Bobby Butler, who played Jerry Devlin, said, "Friday night was our best performance. Everything just went really well."

The play was about relatives of Joziah Travers who had the task of decoding a rebus (map) to find out where the hidden treasure was. However, a lot of strange occurrences began to happen, and dead people started showing up everywhere. No, the butler didn't do it this time, because he was murdered too.

Mrs. Gjesvold, director of the play, commented that "both performances were really good, but both nights were different."

Relatives of Joziah Travers try to decipher a coded message. The map contained clues to where the hidden treasure was located.

Angela English meditates to help her pinpoint the murderer. She played the part of a mysterious fortune teller.