

Remembering Veteran's Day

On November 3rd the Senior Honors English class and the Freshman English and Humanities classes traveled to Indianapolis in honor of war veterans. The students picked a war veteran that had been a Congressional Honor Medal winner. Then they wrote a short biography about their honorary war veteran. The students bussed to the Congressional Medal of Honor Memorial and made a rubbing on the wall of their veteran's name. After the students returned to the school they hung their rubbings and biographies on the cafeteria wall to honor the veterans. WNPC News also made the journey and produced a short documentary which was shown to both NPHS and NPMS.

Honoring War Veterans

Top Left: Rubbing Away. Zach Rooker and Justin Barnhart scrape their veterans' names. Top Middle: Taking a Break. Students took time out from their rubbings to eat lunch. Top Right: On a Mission. Jennifer Collins and Kristen Craft are heading to make their rubbings. Middle: Flags Fly Proudly. Bottom Left: North Putnam's Own War Memorial. The rubbings and biographies were hung in the cafeteria. Bottom Middle: On the News. Channel 8 News interviewed Mrs. Barbara Norman about the trip. Bottom Right: At Work. Adam Clodfelter makes his rubbing for the project.

