

Please?
Daisy Mae (Colleen Thornburgh) pleads with Abner (Joe Strong) to let her catch him in the annual Dogpatch race. In this town, if a man is caught by a woman, they must be married. Abner is a little reluctant.

Stupefied!
Paul Pierce is frozen after seeing Becky McKnight. Becky played the character Stupefyin' Jones, a woman who could freeze men in their tracks by a simple swivel of her hips.

"Li'l Abner" was this year's spring musical. Featured on April 27th and 28th, the cast and crew gave the audience comical characters, singing, and dancing that made the show a hit.

"It's a typical day in Dogpatch, USA"

The cast members display their characters: Toby Baldwin (Pappy), Garrett Hedeem (Earthquake), Randi Stromski (Mammy), Joe Strong (Abner), Chris Fruits (Available Jones), Colleen Thornburgh (Daisy Mae), Matt White (Marryin' Sam), Tricia Burger (Appassionata), Josh Blaydes (General Bullmoose), and John Huffman (Evil Eye Fleagle).

Sneaking Around
Randi Stromski, as Mammy Yokum, sneaks Marryin' Sam (Matt White), into the office of General Bullmoose.

The cast and crew

All of these people contributed to the musical: (Top) Josh Blaydes, Amanda Fordice, Tricia Burger, Nathan Scott, Matt White, Ben Nicholson, Garrett Hedeem, Josh Hendrickson, Aaron Strader, Randi Stromski, Toby Baldwin, Joe Strong, Colleen Thornburgh, Todd McColgin, Chris Fruits, Treg Hopkins, Becky McKnight, John Huffman, Paul Pierce, Alan Stacy, Jessica Mitchell, Zach Whitaker, Josh Fenton. (Middle) Josh Means, Amanda Genaro, Nichole Stromski, Brandi Thatcher, Kara Smith, Stephanie Scuggs, Mindy Birtchman, Erica Hartleroad, Courtney Frosch, Brooke Perkins, Jennifer Harlan, Nikki Wampler, Amanda Billings, Kory Klein, Mea Albiston, and (bottom) several middle schoolers.