

Some of you have been friends since Kindergarten and some friendships have developed during the Middle School and High School years. We're so glad that you haven't given in to peer pressure of splitting apart. True friendship is hard to come by. After graduation you will all go your separate ways but the bonds that you have developed will always be there. Good Luck to you all and keep in touch!

Tara,

May all your dreams come true! We are very proud of you and will always be there for you. There are so many wonderful memories of you my daughter and my best friend. May you and your friends, as you end this year, always have a connection. We wish you luck, success, and happiness throughout your life. God Bless You.

We Love You,
Mom and Dad

The best and most beautiful things in the world cannot be seen or even touched. They must be felt with the heart.

-Helen Keller

May you all achieve your heart's desires.
