

Cassie,

In the blink of our eyes, where once was our beautiful baby girl, now stands a beautiful young woman. We have watched you grow confidence and understanding through your victories, and courage and humility through your defeats. We have seen your spirits soar, and your darkest hours.

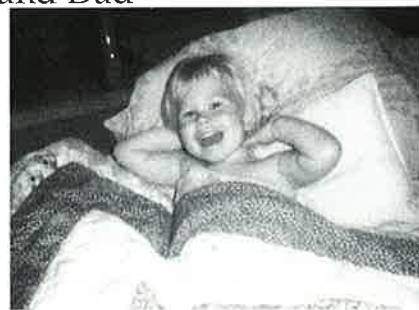

As this chapter of your life ends, and a new one begins, take pride in your accomplishments, and the person you have become.

We are very proud of you, now take your candle and go light your world!

Love Always,
Mom and Dad

Cassie Huffman

From now to a look at the past,
time sure has really gone by fast.
What an enjoyable year of basketball you have given us,
In the stands we're yelling and making such fuss.
We are all so very proud of you,
Just love your smile and your attitude.
You've grown to be quite a special young man,
Good luck in college and with all your future plans.
Remember to keep your eyes focused on God above,
His word will always guide you and fill you with his love.

Nathan
Fowler

We Love You So Much!

Mom, Dad, Nick & Nicole

