

Once upon a time, the NPHS thespians put on Footloose the Musical, and a certain person playing the role of Ren McCormick came out with his fly unzipped. Ah ha ha! Yeah, no life have I...

I will always remember the days before the track meets. We, The Team, would lie on the High Jump mat and get a tan. One day we had a contest on who was the tan-nest. Kosobud won!!!

One time at live-in camp Joe Lawhorn drank a gallon of milk in under ten minutes. He got sick and eventually threw up.

I remember in winter guard, our instructor told us that if we made it to state, we would have a buffet of donuts fer breakfast. Since then, we've said, "Do it fer the donuts!"

It was the second to the last day of school and Corey Peterson and me were going to Corey's house to get a basketball. Corey was way ahead of me when I caught up with him. His truck was parked on the road, and he was talking to some people. I smashed my mom's van, totaling it, into the back of his truck denting his bumper.

Once on our way to practice for Footloose the Musical, a cow ran into the van that my brother Miles B. Reed and I were in. It was a hilarious and glorious moment for we had not run into the cow! The cow had run into us. (and wasn't badly injured afterwards)

Well, this one time after a football game, a bunch of people went to Marvin's. Among these people were Scott Hunt, Matt Gurney, and Cody Hibler. I guess I said something really funny because everyone died laughing, and Scott had an accident. Let's just say there was a big stain on the back of his pants.

I remember every Friday night at the football games going nuts for the Cougars UNDEFEATED season baby!! Cougars #1!

One time at cross country practice, our coach told us to go run for 25 minutes. So Max Schreiber led me, Hillary Salyers, Dakota Parent, and Kandace Sharpie out deep in the woods. After about an hour, he tells me we're lost and drove us back. We were about 5 miles away from the school.
